

Guidelines for Preparing MD/MS Thesis

Components of the Thesis

All thesis will have components given below and following instructions must be followed while preparing the thesis:

1. Preliminary pages

The preliminary pages must include the title page, the certificates, acknowledgements, abstract, table of contents, list of tables, list of figures, list of appendices and list of abbreviations used in the thesis. These should be numbered using lower case Roman numerals (i, ii, iii,...).

a. Title page

The title page should be printed exactly in accordance with the sample [Annexure I]. The date appearing on the title page must be the year in which the thesis is submitted.

b. Certificates

Certificates regarding originality of the work from supervisor(s) and student, Head of department and Principal should be included in the preliminary pages. These certificates must be included on separate pages exactly as given in Annexure II and III A, B and C.

c. Acknowledgments

Acknowledgment(s), if any should be brief, not exceeding one page (Annexure IV).

d. Abstract

The abstract should not exceed two (2) pages, it has to be typed single space in the format given in Annexure V and it must be signed both by the student and the supervisor.

e. Table of contents

Except the title page, certificates, acknowledgements and abstract, all other major divisions of the thesis should be listed in the table of contents. These divisions and sub-divisions, If any, must agree in wording and style with the text.

List of tables, list of figures, list of appendices and list of abbreviations should be typed separately on a page in the same style (Annexure VI) as for the text.

2. Main body of the thesis text

The detailed organization of the text may vary with the thesis in different disciplines, but a consistent style must be followed within discipline. In general for all disciplines in science the text is divided in to various parts as per Annexure VII.

The text of the dissertation/thesis may also include certain materials such as tables, illustrations, photographs, chemical and mathematical formulae and footnotes. The text may be arranged under primary, secondary, tertiary (and so on) titles and subtitles.

a. Tables, figures, illustrations, photographs and appendices in the thesis

The tables, figures, illustrations and photographs (plates) should be self explanatory. The headings and the column/row entries of tables should be clearly related. Tables, figures, illustrations and plates less than half a page may be centered on the page with text above and below. The tables, figures, illustrations and plates should be numbered using Arabic numerals as Table 1., Figure 1., Illustration 1., Plate 1., respectively throughout the thesis. The appendices should be numbered as Appendix A, Appendix B etc.

b. Formulae

Mathematical and chemical formulae should be carefully done on computer. Complex mathematical formulae if two or more lines should not be included in text lines, but these should be placed in proper position in the centre of the page between lines of text.

c. Scientific names

Give technical name of living organisms in full in italics at the first mention, e.g. Homo sapiens. Thereafter, abbreviate them in the text, e.g. H. sapiens.

d. Abbreviations of weights, measures calendar and time

The standard abbreviation of weights, measures, calendar and time should be followed as given in Annexure VIII.

e. Illustrations

Illustrations used in the thesis must appear in all the copies at appropriate places.

f. References

1. For Medical Science subjects list all the references in Vancouver style.
2. For details of reference writing follow instructions attached as Annexure IX.

3. Instructions for typing and printing of thesis

a. Paper quality

The original thesis as well as the photocopies should be prepared on a high quality white paper of A4 size. All pages must have at least 4 cm margin on the left 1.5 cm on right and 2.5 cm on the top and bottom.

b. Typing

The thesis must be typed on computer. The general text of the manuscript should be typed in 1.5 line space in Time New Roman font, size 12 with one side printing of the paper. The text of the manuscript should be justified.

c. Pagination

Certificates of approval, little page, acknowledgements and abstract should be given page number in lower case Roman numerals (i, ii, iii,). For text, Arabic numerals (1, 2, 3, ...) should be used beginning with the first page of the text and continued throughout the rest of the thesis including the references. The page number should be at bottom and right aligned. Suppress the page number on first page of each chapter.

d. Number of copies to be submitted and other requirements:

After completion of all prescribed requirements of the programme, five hard bound copies of thesis (A soft copy of thesis on a CD) using high quality Rexene (The colour of Rexene to be used for binding will be Maroon) with printing in golden letters on the front cover as well as on the spine shall be submitted for stamping by the Registrar.

Annexure IX

VANCOUVER CITATION STYLE

Vancouver is a numbered referencing style commonly used in medicine and science, and consists of:

- Citations to someone else's work in the text, indicated by the use of a number
- A sequentially numbered reference list at the end of the document providing full details of the corresponding in-text references.

It follows rules established by the International Committee of Medical Journal Editors, now maintained by the U.S. National Library of Medicine. It is also known as Uniform Requirements for Manuscripts submitted to Biomedical Journals.

This guide is modeled on Citing Medicine: The NLM Style Guide for Authors, Editors, and Publishers \(2nd edition\). You may wish to consult this source directly for additional information or examples.

In-text citations

Insert an in-text citation:

when your work has been influenced by someone else's work, for example:

when you directly quote someone else's work

when you paraphrase someone else's work

Multiple works by the same author:

Each individual work by the same author, even if it is published in the same year, has its own reference number.

Citing secondary sources:

A secondary source, or indirect citation, occurs when the ideas on one author are published in another author's work, and you have not accessed or read the original piece of work. Cite the author of the work you have read and also include this source in your reference list

In-text citation examples The in-text citation is placed immediately after the text which refers to the source being cited:

Using superscript:

As one author has put it "the darkest days were still ahead".¹

The author's name can also be integrated into the text Scholtz¹ has argued that... (if one author)

If two Scholtz and Schenider¹

If more than two Scholtz et al.¹

Citing more than one reference at a time:

The preferred method is to list each reference number separated by a comma, or by a dash for a sequence of consecutive numbers. There should be no spaces between commas or dashes. For example: ^{1,5,6-8}

Reference List

- i. References are listed in numerical order, and in the same order in which they are cited in text. The reference list appears at the end of the paper.
- ii. Begin your reference list on a new page and title it 'References.'
- iii. The reference list should include all and only those references you have cited in the text. (However, do not include unpublished items such as correspondence).
- iv. Use Arabic numerals (1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9).
- v. Abbreviate journal titles in the style used in the NLM Catalog
- vi. Check the reference details against the actual source - you are indicating that you have read a source when you cite it.
- vii. Be consistent with your referencing style across the document.
- viii. For additional information you may wish to consult Citing Medicine, 2nd ed.

Scholarly journal articles

Follow these examples closely for all layout, punctuation, spacing and capitalization. These general rules apply to both print and electronic articles.

- i. Enter author's surname followed by no more than 2 initials (full stop).
- ii. If more than 1 author: give all authors' names and separate each by a comma and a space.
- iii. For articles with 1 to 6 authors, list all authors. For articles with more than 6 authors, list the first 6 authors then add 'et al.'
- iv. Only the first word of the article title and words that normally begin with a capital letter are capitalised.
- v. Journal titles are abbreviated (to decipher/find correct abbreviations see: PubMed Journals Database).
- vi. Follow the date with a semi-colon;
- vii. Abbreviate months to their first 3 letters (no full stop).
- viii. Give the volume number (no space) followed by issue number in brackets.

- ix. If the journal has continuous page numbering through its volumes, omit month/issue number.
- x. Abbreviate page numbers where possible, e.g: 123-29.

Digital Object Identification (DOI) and URLs

The digital object identifier (DOI) is a unique identifier, and should be provided in the reference where it is available. This alphanumeric string is usually located on the first page with other referencing elements in the article. More recent electronic journal articles will be displayed as permanent URLs. They will look something like this - <http://dx.doi.org/10.1037/a0024996>. Both formats are acceptable, use the form as it appears in your source.

Print articles

Article with 1 to 6 authors	Author AA, Author BB, Author CC, Author DD. Title of article. Abbreviated title of journal. Date of publication YYYY Mon DD;volume number(issue number):page numbers.

Electronic journal articles

- The word [Internet] in square brackets should be inserted after the abbreviated journal title.
- The date cited [in square brackets] must be included after the date of publication.
- The URL (web address) must be included at the end of the reference.
- For electronic journal articles with a DOI, include the DOI (digital object identifier) at the end of the reference, after the URL.

Government and other reports

Follow these examples closely for all layout, punctuation, spacing and capitalisation.

- i. Enter author's surname, followed by no more than 2 initials.
- ii. Give all authors and separate each by a comma and a space.
- iii. Where the author is an organisation, quote the full name of the organisation, omitting the word "The" if preceding the name. Follow the name with the country of origin in parenthesis () using only the two letter country code. See Appendix D of Citing Medicine.
- iv. Where an author and organisation are cited, use the author's name. Add the organisation's name at your discretion.
- v. If there are no authors, only editors, list all editors, followed by a comma and the word editor(s). Only the first word of the article title and words that normally begin with a capital letter are capitalised.
- vi. The place of publication is the city in which the report was published. For US and Canadian cities follow with the two letter state code in Appendix E of Citing Medicine for all other cities us the two letter country code in Appendix D of Citing Medicine.
- vii. Include page numbers in an abbreviated format. e.g.: p. 12-25. Where appropriate abbreviate e.g. p. 241-8.
- viii. For electronic reports include the DOI if it is given and place it after the URL.
- ix. Abbreviate months to their first 3 letters

From the Internet

Follow these examples closely for all layout, punctuation, spacing and capitalisation

- i. Author names should be listed in the order they appear on the site.
- ii. Reproduce the title of a homepage as closely as possible to the wording on the screen.
- iii. Place the word Internet in square brackets following the title (and content type if present).
- iv. Place of publication is defined as the city where the homepage is published. If place, publisher, date unknown use [place unknown], for example.
- v. Publisher is defined as the individual or organization issuing the homepage.
- vi. Use the date of publication as the date the page was first published on the internet, always give the year.
- vii. Date of up-date/revision - Always give the year and include the date/month, if provided, after the year.
- viii. Include the date that you saw the page on the Internet.
- ix. Begin with the phrase "Available from:". Insert the URL in its entirety. End with a period only if the URL ends with a slash, otherwise end with no punctuation.
